PAY LESS, FASTER

No one, it seems, is in any hurry to pay invoices, since it means turning our money into their money. Processing invoices more quickly, on the other hand, can save a company both money and time, which is where Seeburger's 4invoice comes in. It automates invoice processing by automatically interpreting, validating, formatting, routing and posting data from paper, fax and PDF invoices into a company's ERP system. It features a configurable workflow so it can be integrated into a company's approval processes, and in the rare case where an invoice requires manual attention, 4invoice keeps track of it to make sure it gets handled. And while moving invoices along more quickly may put a company in a position to take advantage of early-payment discounts and rebates, it doesn't mean they have to.
