E-Invoicing, Tax Compliance and VAT Reporting - global companies in dialogue

The User Group 'TaxVoice' Gets Started

Bretten, August 06, 2020 – The obligation to use electronic invoicing, international compliance requirements and the global trend towards digital Tax Reporting present companies with complex challenges. The user group 'TaxVoice - Compliance for Paperless' supports multinational companies in building up and expanding the specific know-how for the digitalization of E-Invoicing. Members benefit from the exchange of experience, bundled knowledge, new impulses and efficient networking.

Tax authorities are becoming the pace-setters for digitization

In order to increase tax transparency and tax revenues, international financial authorities are increasingly intervening in financial processes in a regulatory capacity. For example, companies are obliged to process information relevant to taxation via government servers or to transfer data to them using IT, e.g. for VAT Reporting or E-Invoicing. E-Invoicing standards will be harmonised and made mandatory, especially in the B2G environment. Multinational companies increasingly require expert teams with tax, accounting, business process and IT knowledge to comply with country-specific E-invoicing regulations and Tax Reporting requirements in a timely and compliant manner.

Sharing know-how and networking

The user group 'TaxVoice - Compliance for Paperless' was founded by representatives of multinational companies at the Exchange Summit trade fair in Vienna in October 2019. It bundles knowledge, is involved in committees for the establishment of standards and, as a community, helps to promote the digital exchange of invoice and tax data. The now thirty members currently meet regularly in online workshops to exchange experience and knowledge.

Together with international experts, they discuss country-specific VAT Reporting obligations and systems, E-Invoicing trends, current changes in legislation, standards, formats and a wide range of topics. So far, these include the efficient linking of Tax Reporting and electronic data exchange, the training of tax technology experts and their organisational anchoring in the company. New findings and ideas are being brought back into the company in order to make it easier to master the challenges of E-Invoicing and digital Tax Reporting. New members are expressly welcome.

"The regulatory requirements and specifications of the legislators in the international E-Invoicing and VAT Reporting environment are increasing and the complexity is growing. Here, internationally operating companies in particular need to maintain an overview in order to make the right decisions for the future. The positive response of the members and their active exchange of information reflects the value of the 'TaxVoice' user group", says Rolf Wessel, co-founder of the 'TaxVoice' user group and Product Manager at SEEBURGER AG in Bretten.

The user group will meet again on October, 06th 2020. New members are expressly welcome (for registration see contact below).
